

A Note About Gratuities

Gratuities are typically a percentage of the total amount of the service added onto the bill at restaurants, spas, and salons. Generally, the amount of the gratuity is left up to the customer to decide based on the quality of service received, though there are standard guidelines. While travelers may choose to penalize very poor service with no tip, most experts agree that at least the minimum gratuity should be included with payment, and management notified of the errors.

Occasionally, a gratuity will already be included on the final bill. Usually, large parties at restaurants incur an automatic gratuity, and some spa and cruise services add a standard tip to the total before the bill is presented to the customer. If this is the case, it is not necessary to add any extra gratuity, although patrons wishing to reward exceptional service may certainly do so.
